Map Making on a Large Scale—A Prehi toric Picture, Vividly Painted, of the Time Before Human Life—The Bea ta—Washington—National.

Warnixoros, July 1.—The coming fiscal rear's work of the geological survey has seen mapped out by Ma. Powell and the latan have received the approval of Secretary Lamar. Topographical parties will ontinue the work already begun in Massambusta and New Jersey, whither they have seen invited by the state authorities, which co-perate with the government to the exent of defraying one-half the expense of the mercy. It is expected that the work in hese states will be completed within two rears.

survey. It is expected that the work in these states will be completed within two years.

The mapped areas of the soal and iron bearing regions of the east will be considerably enlarged. These are three in number-namely, the Apslachian district, extending from Mary Mills. The same three in number-namely, the Apslachian district, extending from Mary Mills. The Case and Arkansas and a portion of Texas. Geographical surveys will also be continued in Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Montana and Idaho and in the Yellowstone Park. Several astronomical parties will also be sent out to to be begun most year.

The work of the map makers, while serving the many important ends, state and municipal, of the most exact geographical surveys upon large scale, is, to far as taction of the sent of the surveys and the serving the many important ends, state and municipal, of the most exact geographical surveys upon large scale, is, to far as taction of the surveys and geologists for the surveys and the organization which a few years ago were merged into it, were limited to the surveys and the organization which a few years ago were the surveys and geologists of the surveys and geologists of the surveys and geologists of the surveys and the plans proved a rare school or scients, the playsted conditions having been such as the playsted conditions having been such as the playsted conditions having been such as the surveys and the plans are surveys and the plans proved a rare school or scients, the playsted conditions having been such as the surveys and geologists and others and the plans of the surveys and plans as from an open book.

Much valuable work has already been done by state geologists and others and the plans and the p seen done in detached localities and usually without the co-operations of the map maser. It, therefore, not only lacks the typographical exactness which is essential to the purposes of the government, but necessarily fails which can be solved only by operations which are not confined by state lines. for the report.

It is whispered at Washington that the President has indicated a readiness to consider favorably the name of a new man who shall be satisfactory to the business element of Louisville in connection with the Surveyorship of the port. It is said he is not favorable to the present aspirants and it is predicted that the appointee will be a dark horse in the person of ex-Mayor Jacob.

The Postmaster General has decided to set apart the two weeks following the 4th of July, for the purpose of disposing of a large number of cases of Presidential postoffices which have been prepared for consideration, and for the transaction of other necessary and pressing business, and therefore announces to intending applicants that he cannot during that time hear personal applications for appointment.

appointment.

With land frauds in the Interior Department, Custom House frauds and a Sub-Treasury defactation in the Treasury Department and the Postmaster Smith frauds, the wood preserving machine, frauds, the big thefts in the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, and now this Dolphin affair, all in the Navy Department, there is a pretty large development of what are politely called "irregularities," in the short time which the new administration has had to "look at the books."

THE Covington Commonwealth says:
"Many of the State papers are calling attention to the fact that the matter of calling a Constitutional Convention is to be voted on at the election in August, and are urging the people to turn out and vote for it. The fact is, there have been so many unavailing attempts to call a convention, that the papers as well as the people have lost heart, and about conconvention, that the papers as well as the people have lost heart, and about concluded that it is an imposibility to get our State Constitution revised. Every man who does not vote at all is counted against the question, and in this way it is always defeated. This is all the more reason, however, why the people who are alive and want a live Constitution should turn out and vote for the calling of the Constitutional Convention at the August election."

Ir "all this prostration of business might have been prevented by a Republican victory in the last Presidential can-vass," as some Republican newspapers would have the people believe, why did not the Republican party, while in power, prevent the beginning of it? The stagnation in trade, the cutting down of wages, and the labor strikes began when the Republican party was in power, and had not a thought of going out. They were notable characteristics of the summer of 1884, and one of the most difficult parts of Blaine's task in his electioneering speeches was to apologize for them. For this condition of affairs the Republican party is responsible. The Democratic administration not yet in possession four menths, could not, if it desired, without the action of Congress, change the policy of the Government bearing on business and industry, which remains as it was when a Republican administration was in power. It will require time to effect the change that is to remedy these evils, but it will be all right in the end. In the meantime place the blame where it belongs and have patience. it belongs and have patience.

DRY GOODS and NOTIONS.

"THERE'S many a rest on the road of life,
If we would only stop to take it,
And many a tone from a better land.
If the querolous heart would make it.
To the sunny soul that is full of hope,
And whose beautiful trust ne'er falleth,
The grass is green and the flowers are bright
Though the wintry storm prevaileth."

Freddy Scheermann, a lad of fifteen years of Mobile, saw Louisians State Lottery tickets in show windows. He said to himself, "I have no use for this odolar in my pocket," and asked if the could buy a ticket. Freddy had been attracted by the ticket in the window, and would have no other, whereupon the dealer compiled with the request, spring the drawing, and he was aware that he was worth $1,200. His father collected it.—Mobile Register, May 22.

Tris Lexington Transcript, of Tuesday, contains the following: "B. A. Wallingford, Jr., left Mayaville yesterday morning at 5 o'clock on a bicyled for Lexington. He reached Blue Licks for breakfast at 7:30 o'clock; reached Paris for dinner and laid off for a rest. He resumed his journey for this city at 3 o'clock, and when within two niles of the city coming down a steep hill his wheel struck a rock in the road and he took a "header" down the hill landing on his face. His chin was cent open, and his face and hands dreadfully lacerated. He was cared for by a neighboring farmer, who brought bim to the home of his aunt, Mrs. N. P. Cochran, by 6 o'clock. The distance from Mayaville being sixty-five miles, he rode sixty-three miles of the distance inside of ten hours. This is considered good riding; Mr. Walling-ford, however, will ride no more for a few daya."

The Famous Kissing Case.
This was to decide whether a girl who had been married in fun was really the wife of the youth with whom she had stood up to perform the meck marriage. Several hundred pages of testimony were taken, and the justice spant more in having it copied than he received for his fees. The whole thing, which began in joke, proved at last a very serious business. It is serious business, too, when a human system runs down, down, down, until life has no charms and the grave seems a blessing. In this state of affairs take Brown's Iron Bitters and be lifted into life and hope and strength.

A Handsome Work-shop.
Through the politeness of Mr. David Hechinger were shown through the new tailoring establishment that has been lately erected for Messrs. Hechinger & Co., in the rear of the Oddfellows' Hall Clothing Store. The largely increased business in the manufacturing of ine goods by this firm has made necessary the erection of perhaps the most commodious and best appointed merchant tailoring shop in the State. We are glad to notice that this firm does not complain of hard times, but on the coartary is preparing for a larger business than ever.

Mr. W. W. Ball, the County Court
Clerk of Mason County, Ky, has issued a very interesting little book for the benefit of the people, it being a statement of the financial bondition of the county. In it the tax payer will find a correct account of the general standing of the county. The people are certainly much indebted to that official for his thoughtfulness. Mr. Ball has served nearly seven years as Clerk and is a courteous gentleman, a correct official and stands fair among his fellow men.
